

Resilient Community Partnership Community Listening Sessions

The Resilient Community Partnership (RCP), wants to hear from you, the City of Lewes residents and business owners, to better understand your vision for the future of Lewes as a coastal community and the environmental challenges that might impact that vision.

The RCP, established and administered by DNREC Delaware Coastal Programs, provides staff support and technical assistance to municipalities in Delaware through an open and cooperative process to address environmental challenges. The current RCP project is being conducted in collaboration with Delaware Coastal Programs, University of Delaware Institute for Public Administration and the City of Lewes.
